AVENUE

From the team behind the chi-chi West Chelsea hotspot Marquee, Avenue opened this summer with an even tougher velvet rope. This small but sexy lounge is where Bendel Girls and bebies of beauties drink bubbly under dim chandeliers and flickering candlelight until the wee hours. Enjoy the scenery while checking out the tastemakers that flock to this exclusive playground. Life's good on the inside. 116 Tenth Avenue, avenue-newyork.com

WHITNEY MUSEUM OF AMERICAN ART

You've always got an eye on emerging designers, but how's your reading on the pulse of avant-garde art? Browse more than 130 paintings, drawings, and more at the Georgia O'Keeffe: Abstraction exhibit, open now through January 2010. And who knows how many cute, sensitive artists you'll win over with your newfound expertise on modern masters. 945 Madison Avenue, whitney.org

YING BUN SEAFOOD DIM SUM PALACE

Forget hair-of-the-dog remedies or greasy diner food, a night out on the town means a trip to one of the city's best dim sum houses. No need to rush in, spend a lazy afternoon at this local favorite that serves dainty and delightful delicacies until late afternoon. So grab your girlfriends and head east—over the bridge that is—and cure last night's bash with one of New York's off-beat but must-see experiences. 14-726 65th Street, [Sunset Park](http://Sunset Park)

HOTEL GRIFFOU

Not only does this new eatery's name recall a 19th century boardinghouse, the storied maze of winding rooms and throwback menu evoke the ghosts of decadence past. Tucked away on a quiet Greenwich Village street, take a break from shopping and cozy up in the eclectic "library room" or snug "salon." Don't miss the Lobster Thermidor Fondue, it's splurge worthy. 21 West Ninth Street, 212.358.0228
